THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 23

Opening: Monica Bonvicini at Mitchell-Innes & Nash

It's been ten years since Monica Bonvicini had a show in New York. This week, she'll return with "RE pleasure RUN," her first solo show with Mitchell-Innes & Nash. The centerpiece will be Structural Psychodramas #2, which, in typical form for the Berlin-based artist, tends toward the dryly funny—it will lend the gallery temporary walls that are tilted inward, so that murano glass sculptures can hang from them. Alongside that installation will be a neon sculpture that reads "NO MORE MASTURBATION" and a black-and-white photograph of a house burning down. For the artist, all this work is about production and who gets to be participate as a worker in society.

Mitchell-Innes & Nash, 534 West 26th Street, 6–8 p.m.
